

How State Farmers Were Double Crossed in T. B. Bill

FARMER SAYS NEIGHBOR NEAR DARIEN

HOW THE T. B. MILLION DOLLAR BILL WAS KILLED

GOVERNOR. SPEAKER DAHL AND SEN. HUBER WIELDED THE AX. SUR TAX SCHEME Millions in State Treasury Bill. No Thought Given to This.

A statement has been issued by the Wisconsin Farm Bureau Federation in which the clever politician, of several persons interested in killing the million dollar T. B. eradication bill and program, accomplished the result without leaving a trace. The statement follows:

"Many farmers of Wisconsin may be wondering how the Selman million dollar T. B. eradication bill really was killed by our law makers and politicians. The Farm Bureau believes that the citizens of the state should know the facts since the bill for a constructive T. B. eradication program is not over but just commenced in Wisconsin.

"This bill would have provided funds for a constructive program for the county area tests, and would have made it possible to clean up perhaps all of the fourteen counties now having applications filed with the Department of Agriculture, during the coming year while the Huber bill which was evidently drawn up to meet the Governor's wishes is lacking in sufficient appropriations for constructive county area work.

Almost Unanimous Support. "It is well remembered that the million dollar bill passed the Senate by an unanimous vote and in the Assembly it passed by a vote of 66 to 11, with a surplus rider attached which would raise about $600,000. It is quite apparent that this surplus was added for no other reason than to defeat the bill as the Senate would not agree to a surplus, which would be collected from the other counties. It seems that this political move was engineered by a telegrapher, employee of the Governor, the Speaker of the Assembly, and the chairman of the Joint Finance Committee, in order to defeat the eradication bill, and put the Governor's friends knowing to either sign or veto the T. B. eradication bill. The history of the old Roman government teaches us that the Government of a telegrapher is disastrous to popular government, but that is beyond our present question.

The next question naturally follows, how was this accomplished?

AUTEN NOT TO ACCEPT CITY MANAGER PLACE

James E. Auten will not accept the city management of Janesville. He gave his decision Saturday evening to President J. K. Jensen, of the city council, and this will be communicated to the board at the meeting Monday night.

Mr. Auten will be associated with the Nash Motors, with headquarters at Milwaukee and have charge of the Nash Four car, its making and marketing. While from the first Mr. Auten has said that there were considerations which he must take into account in deciding, it was not until late last week that he arrived at a final decision not to come to Janesville.

"I should prefer for many reasons Janesville above all other locations," said Mr. Auten Sunday, "I have been in a quandary over this for a month but my life work has been related to the place I am to take with the Nash organization, and it was so put up to me that I could not very well refuse."

Mr. and Mrs. Auten came to Janesville Saturday and remained until Monday.

President Jensen immediately got in touch with a city manager applicant and is expected to report at the meeting of the council tonight, so that negotiations may be started at once. The salary offered Mr. Auten was $8,000 a year.

FRENCH FIRM ON INDEMNITIES AS FIXED AT LONDON

NO MORE CONCESSIONS, IS GIST OF SPEECH BY POINCARÉ.

REPLY TO J. BULL

British Hopes of Leadership in Reparations Parley Are Given Setback.

(By Associated Press.)

Senlis, France.—In this little town, the point of nearest Paris held by the Germans in their attempt to reach the capital, Premier Poincaré gave Sunday what is considered his preliminary answer to Great Britain's reparations attitude.

His real answer, of course, will be in reply to the note that Great Britain will propose as a joint allied reply to Germany.

France, he asserted, stands unshakably on the complete fulfillment of the treaty of Versailles and the full payment by Germany of 132,000,000 gold marks, the sum fixed at the London conference.

France, he added, opposes the appointment of an international commission to reconsider Germany's debt and to supply the reparations' commission.

No more concessions will be made by France, was the gist of his address.

BRITISH LEADERSHIP HOPES

London.—British hopes of assuming the allied leadership in the negotiations for a reparations settlement with Germany are considered to have been seriously shaken during the week-end by reason of the speech by Premier Poincaré of France at Senlis Sunday.

Nevertheless, British officials who Monday resumed the task of negotiating a reparations settlement, were not so sure that the situation was as bleak as it seemed.

RAIDERS FAIL TO APPEAR IN COURT

Where are the prohibition officers?

Three men alleged to have been caught in a raid on South Janesville the stock county sheriff's office, an attorney, and Municipal Judge Harry L. Maxwell and his court attendants, looked blankly at each other Monday morning when asked to appear in court.

"By all the procedures of legal custom, three state prohibition agents, who came from Madison Saturday and Sunday, should have been here at midnight, should have been in jail, and should have been in court at 10 a. m. Monday to present and press charges. They were not and no one could find them anywhere."

This is the way the story goes:

State Prohibition Officers Henry Hening, Parkinson and Schultz executed the second raid a week at South Janesville Saturday night. Carrying their own warrants, according to the sheriff's office here, they are said to have taken three men into custody, releasing them in return for adequate bonds.

These bonds, the state men are supposed to have in their possession.

The men said to have been arrested are, according to Sheriff Fred Bailey, Henry Carroll, owner of the Janesville Sanitarium; James Tullies, owner of the Southern hotel, and Jay Baumgartner, an employee of Tullies.

50 AGRICULTURAL TEACHERS MEET IN COUNTY SESSION

Good spirit was evident among the 50 agricultural instructors in Wisconsin schools under the Smith-Hughes system during the opening program of the meeting in Janesville High school. The "aggie" teachers will be here a week.

The visitors were welcomed by F. C. Jolly, superintendent of schools, and by J. A. Craig and L. C. French, Janesville, also spoke during the morning session. L. E. Jackson, Janesville high school, presided.

"It has reached the point where there is no county but has an interest in agriculture," declared Superintendent Holt. "There should be an agricultural course in all schools to develop the desire and instilling of students to become farmers. It is my firm belief that not only should rural boys and girls be given opportunity of having agricultural education, but also the parents."

BRITISH NAB 25 SAILORS OF LEVIATHAN

(By Associated Press.)

Southampton.—Twenty-five members of the crew of the American steamship Leviathan were summoned in police court Monday on charges of deserting other ships, including the Berengaria, Aquatona, Olympia, Mauretania, Megantic and Homeric.

Fireman Courtney, alleged to have deserted the Aquatona, proved he had never been on the ship and the case against him was withdrawn with the allowance of one guinea for costs. Two other cases were taken as tests.

The prosecuting solicitor said the proceedings were not instituted to embarrass the United States lines but with a view to vindicating the rights of British shipping companies to maintain discipline aboard their own vessels.

SENT AFTER DEAD COW; FINDS NONE; PAT PRODUCES ONE

Patman, N. J.—Faced by a problem Patrick Gilmore solved it. Or at least Ben Gilmore says he solved it. Ben is suing Patrick for $300.

Patrick Gilmore is a professional remover of dead animals, with headquarters in Camden. Mr. Gilmore had a sheep that died and he telephoned to Mr. Gilmore to come and take it away. Mr. Gilmore, says Mr. James, arrived at the pasture and saw only the live cow, the deceased being concealed by a shrub or something.

Here was a problem. Mr. Gilmore had orders to remove one deceased cow. Here before his eyes was one live cow in the full bloom of bovine girlhood. He had orders to take away a dead cow. What did he do?

Mr. James says Gilmore aimed his trusty gun and shot Phoebe, the good mother. Hence the suit for $300.

Quarrel Over Gun Ends in Tragedy; Slayer Is Jailed

(By Staff Correspondent.)

Darien.—Carl Fritz, 39, a farmer living near Richmond, is dead from a gun-shot wound and Adolph Eckman, 54, who fired the shot, is in the Walworth county jail at Elkhorn as the result of a quarrel at the latter's farm, three miles from Sharon, Sunday afternoon, which came as a climax to a quarrel over some boots and a gun which the dead man claimed Eckman had.

The quarrel between the two men took place in the house about 2:15 p. m. Mrs. Fritz accompanied her husband and, hearing the quarrel grow hotter, started for the house as the two came out of the back door, onto a platform. Fritz was a short distance from the platform when Eckman fired at him with a 12-gauge double-barreled shotgun. Fritz dropped in his tracks with a charge in his left groin and died to death 10 minutes later in his wife's arms. He died repeating over and over again his wife's name, "Esther." A large pool of blood indicated the place where he expired.

Eckman Is Arrested. Dr. J. F. Reed, called from Darien by Mrs. Fritz from the farm of Will Wiedemer, across the road from the Eckman place, arrived a few minutes after Fritz died. Returning to town he brought out E. C. Woodford, Darien town board chairman, and Sheriff Hal Wylie and Turnkey Cusack, came from Elkhorn. Eckman surrendered readily when Sheriff Wylie said, "You'd better come along with me."

He was taken to Elkhorn and locked in jail and the body of Fritz was taken to the Bowers and Lackey undertaking room in Delavan. Eckman was held in the Walworth county jail at Elkhorn, where it was said that a few drops of blood remained in Fritz's veins.

Field Pending Inquest. Eckman was held incommunicado pending the inquest. He was questioned by District Attorney Alfred L. Godsey, of the Elkhorn Monday morning and an inquest was ordered by Coroner F. M. Mayer, Geneva, Jct., had the sheriff summon a coroner's jury for 2 p. m. at the undertaking room in Delavan.

No charges have been lodged against Eckman, pending the outcome of the inquest and bonds have not been fixed. He probably will be arraigned Tuesday if the inquest is concluded Monday afternoon.

Version of Conflict. Versions of the shooting conflict, Mrs. Fritz claims that her husband was deliberately shot, while Eckman claims that the shooting was accidental and that they fought for possession of the shotgun and show the broken stock of the gun, which was taken to Elkhorn. Eckman claims that he shot off the gun, which had been broken before and was taped.

Story of Wife. The wife of the dead man, it is believed, will testify that Eckman told her that he was going to shoot her, and that she then deliberately shot him as he walked away from the back porch. She claims that, after the shooting, when she went to the house, she found Eckman slumped against the door in her foot and would not let her use her phone, and that she then went across the street.

Mrs. Fritz did not hear the quarrel, as she was sitting in the car in the back yard, but her husband had gone to the place to get a pair of rubber boots and a gun, not the one with which he was shot, which she claims he was taking to Elkhorn. Eckman claims that he shot off the gun, which had been broken before and was taped.

It was said by men who have known Eckman that he was quick tempered. Others, who know Fritz claim that he was a peace-loving man. It was reported that several times he had been in trouble in recent years. Eckman is about five feet, nine inches tall and weighs about 200 pounds and standing, close to six feet in height.

Married Second Time. Fritz married Esther Borklund of Janesville, August 16, 1922, having been divorced by her first husband, Mr. Victor Borklund, parents of the girl, lived on the farm until she married and then moved to Delavan, where they now live. Mr. Fritz was working the farm.

Mrs. Fritz is well known in Walworth county, having lived in Delavan for many years with the Harry Bowers family. She was cook at the Wright sanitarium for 22 years. Both Eckman and Fritz have lived in Walworth county about 20 years.

Living on the Eckman farm as an employee is Charles Peterson, a young Swede 16 or 17 years old, who understands little English.

According to Sheriff Wylie there were no indications that either man had been drinking, and no liquor was found on either. No weapon of any kind was found on Eckman. The furniture in the house was orderly and no scuffle ensued in the (Continued On Page 5)

WITH THE FARMERS

Farm Bureau Official Information

The bill was rejected by a vote of 21 to 12 in the Senate and conference committee were appointed in both houses. The farm bureau committee provides that members of such a committee shall represent the view of their house and were not opposed to the general provisions of the bill or in the Assembly appointed a committee consisting of George Nelson, C. E. Hanson, and J. T. Oliver, apparently to prevent agreement with the Senate committee and the bill for its attention was called to the fact that the latter two members had voted for an amendment to cut the appropriation to half a million dollars and the second conference committee was of similar composition. With the approval of such a committee by the Speaker, which the Assembly laughed at when announced, the disagreement of the conference committee was a foregone conclusion which automatically killed the bill.

Well Managed Job

It was a well managed piece of work by the farm bureau to kill a constructive T. B. program and a million dollar appropriation with neither house nor the Governor directly responsible for such an action.

"What arguments were used on the floor of the Assembly to justify the surtax?"

"The advocates of a surtax, many of whom were farm members, took the floor and argued that the money should be raised by a surtax because the farmer's taxes should not be increased. This argument vanished when the full facts are considered. On July 1, 1922, the State Treasurer reported a balance of $14,000,000 on hand. Why not use $600,000 of this balance for the good of the state as a whole in place of collecting an additional surtax? The tax commission had been consulted before the Schumann bill was drawn and it was found that due to the improved business conditions, the income taxes had increased by more than sufficient to take care of the needs for T. B. eradication. At present, the income taxes are raised from income, railroad, and corporation taxes to which the farmer pays but little directly. The only assessments made to the counties and levied on the land and personal property are the millitaxes which are for educational purposes. The fallacy of the argument of these would be producers of the surtax is apparent for no matter whether it was taken from the surplus in the treasury or from these other state taxes, the farmer would pay little directly.

Used for Farmers

"On the other hand, this million dollars was to be used chiefly for the farmers benefit in clearing up the disease among his cattle and horses. It would improve the market demand for his dairy products and surplus dairy cattle. With a well financed and constructive program, the Wisconsin dairy industry would receive a large amount of favorable advertising.

"Another argument advanced by the Governor was that he would be unable to organize the department to use a fund of a million dollars efficiently. The Governor has just appointed a new Commissioner of Agriculture and he should have confidence in his new appointee. In case more funds are appropriated than can be expended in an economical manner, any surplus left at the end of the year will revert to the general fund but with a very limited program provided for, there is no possibility for expansion. The present appropriation is but little larger than that used last year, and the fund made available July 1, 1922, was all exhausted by about the first of October.

"The public may also be interested in knowing that the real right to protect the farmers taxes and place the expense of T. B. eradication on the state as a whole as a state wide project, was fought out not in a spectacular way on the floor of either house, but previously by the Farm Bureau in conferences held in the office of the Commissioner of Agriculture, the Governors office, the Farm Bureau office, and before the Joint Finance Committee. The Governor and the Chairman of the Joint Finance Committee had insisted upon county participation equal to the state appropriation.

County and State Tests

"Fourteen counties have been tested and other counties are being tested at state expense which is the proper plan as this is a state wide project. Since no county has as yet been released, it was agreed that the operation expense of a test should be chargeable to the county but the indemnity paid by the state.

"If the plan of county participation had been adopted, it would have been an area test which would have been chargeable to each county tested. The county would be obliged to secure these additional funds by increasing taxes on real estate and personal property and the farmers taxes would certainly be increased.

"The farmer pays about 55% of the cost of T. B. eradication directly by loss on cattle condemned and would again be called to pay a large proportion of the indemnity in his county tax. The same parties who advocated the county participation which would increase the farmers taxes were also the ones who killed the constructive T. B. bill which was chargeable against the general state fund and substituted an inadequate measure on the plea of reduction of taxes to the farmers."

MINNESOTA VOTERS CHOOSING SENATOR FOR NELSON BERTH

before the polls opened at 6 a. m. The election ends a campaign unusual in the political annals of the state. Called specifically to fill the vacancy Senator Nelson's death created, the primary June 18 was marked by apathetic balloting that attracted only a few more than 300,000 of the state's 800,000 voters.

It had been expected that Governor Preus would resign and accept appointment to the senate, but the chief executive, acting on an opinion of the state attorney general's office, held such procedure would be illegal and his call for the special primary and election followed.

Immediately after the primary, there was no apparent change in the attitude of the average voter; political spotters and their apolitical in-vain and indications were that Monday's election would roll around with a repetition of the primary vote in prospect. What the voters of the country at large was vitally interested in the outcome—that it viewed it as a test between the policies of the Harding administration and things advocated by the La Follette.

This national interest, many politicians say, went a long way toward arousing the voters of the state in the importance of the contest and the expectation was that a vote considerably larger than the primary poll would be cast Monday.

Hard to Tell
The usual expressions of confidence were available Monday at the several party headquarters, but the neutral observer, professing an analytical turn of mind, found little tangible on which to base predictions.

In the general election last fall, Minnesota chose as United States senator, Dr. Henrik Shipstead, a farmer-laborer, giving him a total of 255,372 votes as compared to 211,533 for Senator Frank B. Kellogg, Republican.

Competing in gubernatorial race in the same election, Governor Preus defeated Magnus Johnson, 308,766 votes to 295,473, with the candidates bearing the same party affiliations as they do today.

Preus supporters say the Johnson vote last fall was carried through by the Shipstead showing. Johnson adherents say the farmer-laborer concentrated on the senatorial race and that Monday, with interest centered on the single contest, Johnson will poll a heavy vote.

The New Chambers

Fireless Gas Ranges

Cook with the Gas Turned off

THE CHAMBERS SERVICE

The principle of the Chambers range is simple. While the gas is on, it cooks like any other gas range, only more efficiently. But its real service comes through certain patented features that allow you with a turn of a lever to shut off the gas and at the same time draw the heat in the range's oven or in the hood on top—heat thickly insulated so that the heat is on for hours on retained heat.
